Ards and North Down Good Relations support the No Hate Here initiative developed by North Belfast Policing and Community Safety Partnership. The No Hate Here initiative allows businesses, organisations and community groups in Ards and North Down to show a no tolerance approach to hate crime in the borough.

OUR COMMUNITY MESSAGE ABOUT HATE CRIME IN ARDS AND NORTH DOWN

When hate crime happens in an area it causes stress not only for the victims and witnesses, but for the community as whole. The community of Ards and North Down want to support and welcome all those who live in the borough.

NO HATE HERE!

NO HATE HERE!

NO HATE HERE!

While racially motivated crimes and incidents are targeted at specific communities, they affect everyone.

If Ards and North Down is to prosper as a community, then it is essential that all residents feel they have an equal share in the community and that each person contributes and is equally valued.

Within our community we are committed to:

- challenging racism and racist practices.
- creating an atmosphere where racism is not tolerated.
- trying to make sure that anybody can feel safe whatever their nationality, ethnicity or skin colour.
